Negro School Teachers Sue at Morrilton

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Six Negro teachers who lost their jobs when the all-Negro Sullivan High School was closed at Morrilton in May 1965 filed claims for $7,622 in damages Thursday in U. S. District Court.

Three of the six, Miss Margaret Sanders, Phillip O. Jones and Mrs. Geneva Braswell, also asked to be re-employed by the Morrilton School Board. Seeking damages only were Hymon King, the former principal of the school; his wife, Mrs. Zeophus King, and Mrs. Helen Oliver.

Damages asked by the six were $1,755 by Miss Sanders, $4,202 by King, $300 by Mrs. King for expenses in finding a new job, $765 by Jones, $250 by Mrs. Braswell for expenses in finding new employment and $350 by Mrs. Oliver for her expenses to get a new job.

The 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis ruled Sept. 15 that their dismissals were due to "improper racial considerations." The court said the school board must offer the teachers positions for which they were qualified when a vacancy occurs and that the teachers were entitled to damages.

Two other Negro teachers also lost their jobs when the school was closed. The appeals court specified that one, Clement S. Smith Jr., was not entitled to damages. The other, John Sutton, did not file a claim.

More Pilots to Undergo Training

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, moving to ease a shortage of combat pilots, has given the Navy and Air Force the go-ahead to sharply boost their pilot training next year.

This was revealed Thursday night by well-qualified sources who also said the secretary will sign an order within the next few days granting the Army additional funds to nearly double its pilot training output.

'Quick Draw' Is for Real as Army Trains for Viet Nam War

FT. MONROE, Va. (AP) — The Army is teaching soldiers to shoot from the hip here, to perfect a new "quick-kill" technique.

An Army spokesman said the object is to eliminate aiming through a weapon sight — a time-consuming maneuver during close-in fighting. Instead, soldiers using BB guns — as training aids only — learn to shoot from the waist, aiming over their arm.

The Army said it is using the BB guns since both the weapon and the ammunition are cheaper than standard issue rifles.

BOSTON (AP) — Railroad cars that will be used in high-speed runs between Boston and Washington have already been tested at speeds of 152 miles an hour, says an official of the Budd Co., which is building the cars.

Speeds up to 160 miles an hour are expected when the line goes into service early next year.

HARPERS FERRY, W.Va. (AP) — The Harpers Ferry National Monument attracted 814,782 visitors during the first 10 months of this year.

The Department of the Interior said this was 15 per cent more than the number of visitors to the Civil War monument during the same period last year.

Cutback by LBJ Due for Some Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plans for cutbacks in domestic programs threaten to bring him into conflict with liberal House Democrats in the 90th Congress.

Although Republicans have greeted with enthusiasm Johnson's announcement of cuts totaling $5.3 billion in federal programs, Democrats are showing much less willingness to go along with their party's leader.

"I disagree 150 per cent," says Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who is chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal group that frequently is at odds with Johnson.

Less vehemently, other Democrats privately express doubts about the course Johnson has elected to follow.

"I just don't think Congress is going to make any cutbacks," said a prominent House member who has long supported the administration.

The programs these members want to see cut are the education, housing and antipoverty programs the Democrats fought long and hard to bring into being. Johnson has called for deferring some and cutting back others.

"There shouldn't be any cutbacks in these modest programs," said Edwards. "And they are modest programs."

"What we should take a good hard look at," he added, "is military spending. In 1965, expenditures totaled $96 billion and for this year they are talking about $126 billion. Nearly all that increase has gone into the defense budget. "That's where the cuts should come, not in programs that would help all Americans."

The President also has said he hopes to reach a decision around the end of the year on whether to ask for a tax increase to help finance the Viet Nam war and cool off the economy.

If he decides to seek a tax hike, he will have the support of a committee of business executives and educators. The 12-member program committee of the Committee on Economic Development called Thursday for a tax increase and spending cuts next year large enough to produce a $3 billion federal budget surplus.

But the principal spokesman for the nation's mayors appealed to Johnson to reconsider planned cuts in antipoverty spending. Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh suggested space expenditures be trimmed instead.

Cavanagh, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors and of the National League of Cities, implied in his telegram to Johnson that the cuts now planned invite more civil unrest among the cities' underprivileged.

10,000 Yell for Boycott at Berkeley

By JOHN W. WOOD
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Rain, impending final exams and a wait-and-see response by the administration are weakening the student verve for a classroom boycott at the University of California.

Despite those factors, some 10,000 persons stood in a drizzle in front of the Berkeley campus administrative building Thursday and shouted for continuation of the boycott. There are 27,500 students at the campus. Estimates of the boycott's effectiveness varied.

The boycott was called to protest the arrest of four students and six nonstudents Wednesday during a sit-in against a Navy recruiting table in the Student Union.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns, who was attending conferences at Harvard and Princeton universities, cut short his trip and flew back to the campus. He met with his staff, faculty and student leaders.

Heyns refused to see newsmen and declined to comment on the boycott. A university spokesman said Heyns felt that a slow, thoughtful solution was better than a quick response to student activities.

Daniel G. McIntosh, president of the Associated Students of the University of California, the student governing body, said the students were boycotting classes to force the dropping of the charges and threats of punishment against persons involved in the sit-in so that recruiters for government bodies will be subjected to the same regulations on campus as any other nonstudent organization, and to make the university promise that outside police agencies will not be used to control on-campus demonstrations and activities.

Some students said thousands stayed away from classes and that some teaching assistants and professors canceled sessions.

The administration said the boycott was ineffective and that a count of absentees was virtually impossible. The rain apparently also kept some students away from classes.

Award Winner Was a Surprise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — The award winner's name was a surprise, but there he was among the other 1966 Emmy recipients for distinguished achievements in New York area television — Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Lindsay was cited for his encouragement of television production in New York as the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences made its 10th annual award presentations Thursday.

In the worst Great Lakes disaster in eight years, the 603-foot ore carrier split apart and went to the bottom of Lake Huron early Tuesday during a gale that concealed her fate for 34 hours.

There was one survivor, Dennis Hale, 26, a deck watchman from Ashtabula, Ohio. Hale was asleep in his bunk when awakened by the battering that ripped the 12,500-ton Morrell in two.

Hale will be the only eyewitness before the board of inquiry appointed Thursday by Adm. Willard J. Smith, the Coast Guard commandant in Washington.

Rear Adm. Charles Tighe, commander of the Coast Guard 9th District with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, recommended the inquiry and was appointed to head the five-man board.

Such an investigation is reported for major marine disasters. The board is expected to convene in Cleveland Monday.

Among the puzzling aspects of the tragedy were these:

— The Coast Guard reported receiving no distress signal from the Morrell, which sank about two hours after it sent a routine message stating its position in the storm-lashed waters.

— Why did the 60-year-old Morrell go down when its sister ship, the E.Z. Townsend, also 60

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The bronze plaque in the gleamingly modern building features a life-like bas-relief of its owner. The inscription: "The Lawrence Welk Union Bank Building — dedicated to all those who made it possible."

To my knowledge, Lawrence Welk does not own Union Bank. But he does own the ground-floor space where the bank has a branch, as well as the six floors above. On the top floor of the Wilshire Boulevard building in Santa Monica you find the offices of the various Welk corporations. In the thick-carpeted interior, the onetime Strasburg, N.D., farm boy conducts his musical empire.

"I like it here," said Welk one afternoon, flipping a switch that drew the drapes and revealed a clear view of the fog.

"I bought this property because of the park across the street. It reminds me of the wide open spaces that I knew as a boy back in North Dakota."

He swiveled his chair to the control panel and closed the drapes "because of the glare."

Welk's persistent good humor seemed as strong as ever, perhaps because of the recent ratings for his Saturday night ABC television show. One listing placed him as No. 12.

"Yes, we have had our best ratings this season, and it is very gratifying," he said in the Alsace-Lorraine accent he acquired from his immigrant parents. "It has always been our experience to be beaten by the new shows at the early part of the season and then catch up and sometimes pass them as the season progresses."

This season's success smells especially sweet to Welk. The reason: He didn't expect to be blowing his bubbles on television this year.

"It's true," he admitted "after ten years on television, I expected we would start to fall. I realized that the public was partly fickle, and when we went into our eleventh season last year, I thought it might be our last."

"I wanted to go off in a blaze of glory, and so I fought for color. The network was against it, and so were the sponsors. But I felt strongly that we could do better in color."

Welk can be persuasive in his own quiet way, and ABC was convinced to spend $1.5 million to convert a studio for color-televesting his show. The new hue put the show back in the rating race. Now Welk can doubtless remain on TV as long as he is able.

The future seems indefinite. After 42 years of his 62 as a band leader, he retains the old bounce. He switched on the stereo to play his latest record, "Westminster Cathedral," demonstrating he can play for the hip crowd as well as oldsters.

Fashion in the News

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The second act of the "fashion revolution" has begun. Our heroine (the modern woman) emerges now as one who has made up her mind. She knows which side she's on in the tug-of-war between the youth movement and the establishment.

The revolution in fashion which in the past year produced one abomination after another in the name of "design" did serve a purpose. It inspired new concepts, new silhouettes and it shook up the establishment.

From the staid couture of other seasons women want the liveliness of the new kookie clothes, but we want to look and feel beautiful, too. Today's woman doesn't want any more of the grotesqueries. But neither does she want fashions so understated that they fade into the background. She wants a new breed of couture—feminine, elegant, fresh and young.

Umba of Donle is one designer who, judging from his latest collection, has anticipated this new thinking.

He offers no fads, no gimmicks. The clothes are sophisticated by day, luxurious for late day—gay, lively but ladylike.

One new look for daytime is the "caged" skimmer in solid color wool jersey, topped with a checked tunic jacket in the new three-quarter length. Another, the doublet dress, is a long-sleeved gray wool skimmer worn under a loose-fitting doublet, not unlike a very fashionable sandwich board.

The look for evening is great for the coming holiday festivities. Cocktail dresses with square-cut or softly draped necklines bare the shoulders and little tents have fullness in the back, caught up in butterfly detailing. The soft fabrics add to the feminine, float-away illusion.

At holiday gatherings where the room will glitter with gimmicks and geegaws, soft simplicity will catch every eye.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

CAN THIS BE TRUE

Dear Helen: Please advise "Mrs. Nobody" that she is not alone.

The majority of all middle-aged married men have at one time or another had an affair with some girl young enough to be their daughter. Why, is the mystery of the ages... or maybe "age" explains the mystery.

I too have been married 20 years. In that span, I have managed to break up at least five romances. Currently it is the young mother of several small children. I can understand a married man having outside interests, but tell me, Helen, what kind of mother would stoop so low? And what kind of husband must she have to allow this? They are neighbors of ours.

My advice to "Mrs. Nobody" is to fight and keep on fighting for her man—and never lose her sense of humor, if she still loves him.—NEVER GAVE UP

Dear NGU: Don't measure "the majority" by your footlose husband's yardstick. Not all men have wives whose expectations and "sense of humor" practically give a green light to their "outside interests."—H.

Dear Helen: "Mrs. Nobody's" letter hit a nerve.

Don't sell these "junior seniors" short, Helen. They're dangerous! I smiled at her immature, I pitied her secretly, but today that infatuated teenager is his wife; smug, shameless, and secure after stealing another woman's husband.

She didn't mess around with my husband just to sharpen her sex appeal. She saw all the goodies years of hard work and sacrifice had produced and she wanted them.

A middle-aged man who finds all this fresh loving innocent attention being showered on him is as blind as a bat. Soon there is no turning back, like with an illegitimate child he feels obligated to protect.

Don't give me that old story about no love at home. My man was loved and adored and respected, physically and mentally. There was no need to look elsewhere, but when a wide-eyed innocent cast her spell, well, I became "Mrs. Nobody."

It's too bad there isn't a law to stop teens from contributing to the delinquency of fool husbands. My advice to "Mrs. Nobody": Tell this 16-year-old menace to get going and keep going. Don't be subtle. Give her the boot—fast—before she walks off with the whole booty!—ONE WHO KNOWS

Dear Helen: We have children, ages one, two and three. I vacuum the house every day, dust, keep up my washing and ironing, hardly ever have dishes in the sink. I have myself looking decent when my husband comes home and the kids look clean and neat most of the time.

These things he never notices. But let me slip up on polishing the electrical appliances, or the table legs, or scrubbing the wall behind the stove the minute it has a splatter mark—any of those little extras that take more time than I've got—and he implies I'm a lazy, careless, sloppy housewife. He's always nagging about one thing or another, in front of company, he embarrasses me to tears about how "shiftless" I am.

Am I wrong not to spend every waking minute far into the evening on making the house sparkle, or do I have an excuse to be sometimes forgetful about these things?—LAZY OR PLUM WEARY

Dear Weary: You're doing fine and your husband darn-well knows it! But manlike, he doesn't plan to spoil you by saying so. And mate-like he points out defects in front of others. (Honest now, haven't you been guilty of this too?)

How about a "nag bank" at your house? Make a joint agreement that when the other nags, she or HE drops in a quarter. Next time your man starts with the criticisms, smile, say nothing, and hand him the bank!—H.

Yerger Host to Tourney on Saturday

By JOSEPH WITHERSPOON

The Frost has turned the Summer grass From verdant green to brown. The winds have brought the Autumn leaves floating to the ground. The North wind blasting the chill of rain Signal the end of Fall. So now we turn to the indoor sport of High School Basketball.

The Yerger High School Tigers will open their 1966-67 basketball season with an Invitational Tournament, this Saturday beginning at 11 a.m. Teams that will be playing in the tournament are Ashdown, Magnolia, Arkadelphia, Prescott, Malvern, and the Yerger High School Junior and senior boys.

The 1966-67 Tiger Basketball team appear to be strong. The Tigers lost some good players last year, but Coach Ware should not have such a hard time selecting replacement from the fine group of juniors and seniors. We have, left from last season, many good ball players who should hit their peak this season, and make things hot for all their opponents. Coach Ware will be working with the senior boys this year, and will be trying to lead them to many victories this season. The Yerger Junior boys will under the direction of Mr. George Straughter who has guided the boys into close contention each year. This year they hope to go all the way to the top in the conference standings.

This season the Tigers will also have a "B" team. This team will be made up of sophomores, juniors, and seniors who were not selected to play on the senior team, and will be coached by Mr. D. Burkette. Coach Burkette has had experience in coaching basketball before and should do a good job in coaching the newly formed "B" team.

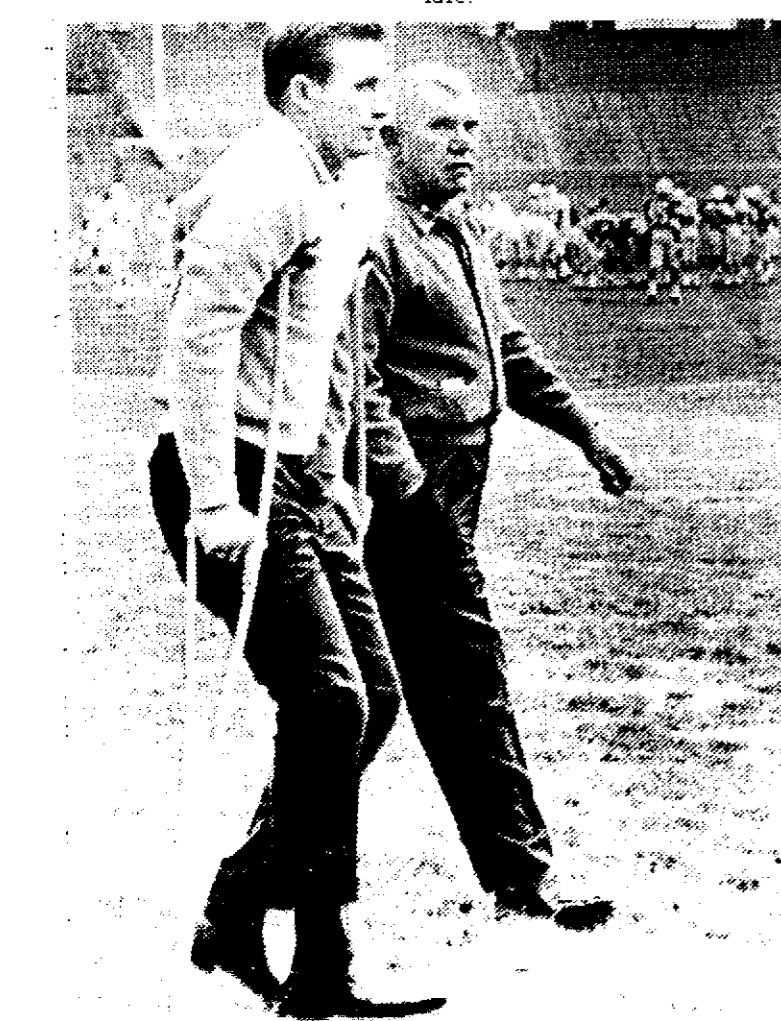

Bills Could Hit Double Trouble

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
If Boston's Jim Nance and Gino Cappelletti stay footloose against Buffalo's brute defense Sunday, the Bills may run into double trouble in their American Football League duel with the embattled Patriots.

Buffalo, the defending AFL champion, rates a one-touchdown favorite over the Patriots in the Eastern Division showdown at Boston, but Nance's running power and Cappelletti's kicking magic could close the gap.

An upset victory would shoot the Patriots, now 6-3-2, past the first-place Bills, 8-3-1, in the Eastern stretch run. The Pats upended Buffalo 20-10 in their CHARLEY JOHNSON'S knee injury has caused an arm problem (passing) for the St. Louis Cardinals, as they battle Dallas for the National Football League's Eastern Division title. The regular Cardinal quarterback attends a practice session with his father, C. E. Johnson.

Sunday Is Showdown for Pros

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Sunday is showdown day in the National Football League's Eastern Division and Dallas has a little more to show than St. Louis.

The Cowboys and Cardinals, tied for first place in the East with 8-2-1 records, clash in Dallas with the top rung at stake. And the Cowboys are better prepared physically for this big one.

The last time they played, Dallas and St. Louis battled to a 10-10 tie but the Cardinals had Charley Johnson at quarterback then. Johnson was sidelined for the season by a knee injury Nov. 6 and Terry Nofsinger will be at the controls Sunday.

St. Louis has split two games since Johnson was injured, scoring nine points — all of them on the accurate toe of Jim Bakken's right foot. The Cards squeezed past Pittsburgh 6-3 on two Bakken field goals last Sunday.

Dallas, meanwhile, has put together the most potent attack in the NFL. The Cowboys, with Don Meredith calling the plays, have scored 366 points — 71 more than any other team in the league.

And while the Cardinals and Cowboys battle for the lead, the Cleveland Browns will try to keep their title hopes alive against the New York Giants at Municipal Stadium. The Browns are third in the Eastern race.

In other NFL games Sunday, San Francisco is at Green Bay, Chicago visits Baltimore, Detroit is in Los Angeles, Pittsburgh takes on Philadelphia and Minnesota hosts Atlanta.

The Browns trail the co-leaders by 1 1/2 games and must count on each of them losing twice. LeRoy Kelly will be out to regain his rushing lead from Chicago's Gale Sayers. The Giants are still licking their wounds from last week's record-shattering 72-41 rout in Washington.

Baltimore, trailing Green Bay by two games in the West, must stop Sayers, who is only 43 yards shy of 1,000 yards rushing. The Colts face elimination should they lose and the Packers beat San Francisco.

Green Bay will be out to avenge a 21-20 early season setback suffered against the 49ers.

Commodores Spring a Big Upset

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Nothing much was expected from Vanderbilt this college basketball season with big Clyde Lee gone by graduation, but the Commodores upset Western Kentucky on the very first night of the new campaign.

Western Kentucky, which finished the 1966 season with a 25-3 record and with its star, Clem Haskins back, was favored to bowl over their Southeastern Conference opponent Thursday night.

But at the final whistle the unranked Commodores were on top 76-70 over the Hilltoppers, eighth-ranked in the preseason Associated Press poll.

Texas Western, second-ranked in the AP poll, opened the defense of their national championship with a 78-54 victory over Sam Houston State.

New Mexico, Houston, North Carolina and Cincinnati, the only other teams in the AP Top Ten to see action, each won.

New Mexico, No. 6 led Mel Daniels' 19 points, beat Abilene Christian 63-52 at Albuquerque. Elvin Hayes, with 32 points, and Melvin Bell with 30, paced No. 7 Houston to a 96-84 triumph over Albuquerque at Houston.

Larry Miller, scoreless in the first half, broke loose for 13 points after the intermission to lead North Carolina, No. 8, over Clemson 76-65 at Chapel Hill. In another home opener, Cincinnati, No. 10, crushed George Washington 85-61 behind Mike Rolf's 21 points.

A turnout of 11,300, the largest ever to see a basketball game in Knoxville, watched Tennessee thump Michigan 72-54 behind Ron Widby's 27 points.

In other intercollegiate games, Kansas whipped Arkansas 73-57 at Fayetteville, Georgia Tech whacked Southern Methodist 87-70 at Atlanta and Texas Tech downed Colorado 67-62 at Lubbock.

Michigan State, favored to succeed Michigan as the Big Ten champion, opened at home with a 77-55 triumph over Western Michigan behind 20 points by Lee Lafayette, a 6-6 sophomore.

Williams to Hang Up His Gloves

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams, who suffered a third-round technical knockout

at the hands of champion Cassius

Clay last month, says he is hanging up his gloves.

He officially announced his retirement from the ring Thursday at a news conference. Williams said he will receive about $42,000 clear money from the title fight Nov. 14 in the Astrodome.

Williams, 33, almost died two years ago when he was shot in the abdomen in a scuffle with a highway patrolman. However, he recovered and staged a comeback that climaxed in his title shot against Clay.

The loss to Clay was Williams'

72nd professional fight. He won 65, lost six and fought one draw.

Ron Franz stung Arkansas with a 16-point performance in the first half Thursday night as the Kansas Jayhawks took a 73-57 victory in the season's basketball opener for both teams.

Franz scored 10 points within 10 minutes as Kansas built a 38-23 halftime lead. The Razorbacks got no closer than 11 points in the second half.

Rod Bohnenstiehl led Kansas with 25 points, coming off the bench to score nine points in the first half. Franz finished with 18.

Gary Stephens topped Arkansas with 17 points. Jackie Kimbrell had 16.

Arkansas' freshmen won the preliminary, a 95-81 victory over the John Brown University junior varsity. Robert McKenzie had 21 points and Bob Vint 20 for Arkansas and Larry Alexander of John Brown had 27 points.

Dallas Should Wrap It Up on Sunday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas

should practically wrap up the Eastern title in the National Football League Sunday and the Green Bay Packers should clinch at least a tie in the West.

The Buffalo Bills, coming on strong in the stretch, figure to even matters with Boston for an earlier defeat and nail down the American Football League's

Eastern Division crown. Kansas

City, with a bye, already had won the Western Division title.

The old hand picker tries it once more (all games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated):

NFL

Dallas 20, St. Louis 9—Cowboys smelt that Super Bowl cash. Teams played 10-10 tie

earlier but that was before

Charley Johnson was hurt.

Cards' tough defense will give

Don Meredith the big rush but their offense hasn't produced a touchdown in the last two games. Cowboys pack too much punch.

Cleveland 42, New York 17—

After that disaster in Washington the Giants are ready for anything. Browns are teetering on brink and can't afford another loss after Thanksgiving Day in Dallas.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco

14—Packers still smarting from that 21-20 loss in San Francisco, their first loss. The 49ers have been averaging well over 30 points a game in last three outings, bombing Detroit 41-14.

Chicago 14, Baltimore 10—

Don't like either club here. Colts

GONE MOD is Marlene Bauer Hagge. Her polka dot slacks wows 'em on the women's professional golf tour. In fact, Marlene has been named by Golf Digest the best dressed woman golfer of the year.

Alabama, Auburn Is Top Game

By RON SPEER

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) —

The controversy over Alabama's claim to a third straight national championship has overshadowed the bitter rivalry between the Crimson Tide and Auburn, who close out the 1966 football campaign Saturday.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant

says his team deserves the national crown "if we can whip

Auburn."

Football fans throughout the country will get a chance to judge his case. The game will be nationally televised by ABC, starting at 2:15 p.m. EST.

Alabama, which won the national title in 1964 and 1965, ranks third going into its final try for the title and is the only major unbeaten and untied team in the country.

"Notre Dame" and Michigan

State are ranked ahead of Alabama, with the final poll of the year set for next week.

Auburn Coach Ralph (Shug)

Jordan, whose team hasn't played since Nov. 12, knows his Tigers will have to bear the brunt of Alabama's frustration.

"We aren't going up there to lose, however," Jordan said.

"We will try to win the game."

Victory would leave Auburn with a 5-5 record and take much of the sting out of earlier losses

to Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia Tech, Florida and Georgia.

The game is the 31st between the schools. Alabama, which has won the last two tests, leads the series 15-14, with one tie.

The match ends play for Auburn, but Alabama still has a Need Rescue Device for Astronauts

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
BOSTON (AP) - A space expert said today that a space cas-tastrophe is inevitable and urged that the United States move faster to develop a rescue system to aid disabled or stranded astronauts.

Dr. Eugene B. Konecni of the National Aeronautics and Space Council reported that the United States is studying several plans,
"with very limited resources being applied to the whole manned rescue area as an integrated problem."

In a paper presented at the annual conference of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, Konecni said the studies have provided valuable research but "perhaps we should move faster with a definite plan."

He said many believe the need for space rescue is justification for starting on the next generation of spacecraft, whose main job would be to ferry men and supplies between the earth, moon and space stations.

Konecni said these craft, already on drawing boards, could be adapted as rescue vehicles.
They would land on airport-like runways and could be launched many times.

Konecni said a commitment to start a ferry-type spacecraft development program within three or four years could lead to a rescue capability by the mid-1970's.

Other national space officials said no commitment has been made to a new program because of the great cost - at a time when the space budget is being trimmed by Viet Nam and other considerations.

They said for the time being,
money would be spent in making the Apollo spacecraft as safe as possible. Most recognize the need for space rescue as soon as it's economically feasible.

A PEACE VIGIL is still being kept in the Gaza Strip between Israel and the United Arab Republic by members of the United Nations Emergency Force, who are a long way from home as these posted signs illustrate. This first international peace force has been guarding the strip since 1956, maintaining the uneasy peace signed after the Suez crisis.

Boyd Named President by Chrysler

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler Corp. today named Virgil E. Boyd, 54, a one-time Nebraska auto salesman, to succeed Lynn A. Townsend as the firm's president.

Townsend, who has headed the company since 1961, was elevated to chairman of the board, succeeding George H. Love, 66, who will retire at the end of the year. Townsend will remain chief executive officer.

Boyd, who has been No. 3 man at Chrysler as vice president for domestic automotive operations, came to the firm in 1962 from American Motors Corp., where he had served in a series of sales posts.

The executive changes were announced at a news conference here following a special board meeting.

Civil Rights Report Hit by Chairman

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The chairman of the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights complained Wednesday that the commission had diluted the advisory committee's recommendations for enforcing the Civil Rights Act.

"They have taken our clear and precise language and reduced it to a hodge-podge of bureaucratic mumbo-jumbo to avoid recommending the sanctions of the Civil Rights Act," said Ted Lamb of Little Rock.

"I charge the members of the Civil Rights Commission staff and the people who wrote this report with having no stomach for imposing the sanctions of the Civil Rights bill."

Lamb said the commission's report of the committee recommendations made in July had "no guts or spirit in it." He disavowed the report.

The advisory committee had recommended that federal funds be withheld from the Forrest City, Marion, Marianna, Barton, Helena, Hubert-West Memphis and Marvell school districts.

The committee also had recommended suspension of all government contracts with the Mohawk Rubber Co. plant at West Helena and that federal poll watchers be sent to East Arkansas for last summer's primaries.

None of the recommendations was included in the report released by the commission.

The report said on employment that the committee proposed anti-discrimination compliance reviews of employers in Crittenden, Lee, Phillips and St. Francis Counties and that the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission investigate allegations of racial discrimination in hiring that were made at a Forrest City hearing.

On education, the commission asked the U. S. Office of Education to examine more closely compliance with the desegregation guidelines in the school districts of the four counties and recommended a review of the administration of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in the counties.

On voting, the commission recommended starting a voter education program on the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and the laws and procedures in Arkansas. Another recommendation was that investigators look into charges that some persons were deprived of their vote or did not have their vote counted because of discrimination.

Syria Asks Overthrow of King Husein

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) - Syria's ruling Baath Socialist party called Tuesday night for the overthrow of Jordan's King Hussein.

Elsewhere in the tense Middle East Israel shot down two Egyptian jet planes and a new exchange of gunfire broke out across the Jordan-Israeli frontier.

The incidents occurred on the 19th anniversary of the United Nations decision to partition Palestine, then under British mandate, to establish the state of Israel.

Syria's rulers, long at odds with the Hashemite monarchy of Jordan, called on "rebellious forces in Jordan" to overthrow the 31-year-old king and "create the necessary climate for the return to Palestine."

The Baathist International Command, highest authority in the party, in a statement later called for establishment of a "national progressive front" in Jordan to overthrow Hussein and wage a Palestine liberation battle.

The command accused Hussein of "the biggest oppressive operation of terror in Jordan's history" in his quelling of demonstrations following Israel's Nov. 13 attack on the Jordanian village of Samua. The demonstrators demanded arms to battle Israel.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, Hussein declared that the Middle East is on the brink of an explosion more dangerous to world peace than the Suez crisis of 1956. He accused the Russians of fomenting tension to gain control of the oil-rich area.

In other developments: - An Israeli pilot shot down two Egyptian MIG19s in a two-minute dogfight Tuesday after the MIGs had crossed about three miles into Israeli air space, Israeli authorities said.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
Dizziness in Walking May Have Variety of Causes
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I get so dizzy when I walk I have to hold on to something to keep from falling. What would cause this?
A—Dizziness may be caused by anemia, getting up too suddenly from lying down, Meniere's disease and tumors at the base of the brain. Your doctor should determine the cause before recommending any treatment.

Q—I black out when I get up from a reclining position or after bending over. Is this serious? What should be done about it?
A—This is usually due to the vasomotor instability—the nervous system that controls the caliber of your blood vessels is slow to adjust to the changed position and the blood temporarily rushes to your feet, leaving your brain gasping. This condition is especially common in elderly persons with some hardening of the arteries in the brain. It is not serious and can usually be controlled by getting up more slowly. The pills usually given to prevent dizziness will not help but, if you must take something, let your doctor give you some ephedrine 2 or 3 times a day.

Q—Ever since my child was born 19 years ago I have had a milky discharge from my breasts. Will this lead to cancer? What can I do about it?
A—This is not uncommon and does not lead to cancer. In some persons the cause is a disorder of the thyroid or pituitary which can be treated. In others a combination of an estrogen and progesterone (both are female hormones) is helpful.

Q—Is it common for the breasts to get suddenly smaller after the third baby? My body weight has not changed. Can anything be done to stop this reduction in the size of my breasts?
A—Judging by the number of similar letters I get, this may occur after any pregnancy. Your problem is much the same as that of many girls who write in complain-

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Two decades after the end of World War II, many of Europe's art treasures continue to be missing. Paintings, sculpture, rare books, ancient coins and many other items were either plundered, lost or destroyed during the war. The value of these irreplaceable works is more than half a billion dollars, says The World Almanac. Belgium alone is still missing 1,400 paintings. Many agencies, both private and governmental, crisscross Europe and even range as far as the United States in search of the looted art.

In the old shell game the barker cries, "Now you see it, now you don't," and places the pea under one of the shells and moves them around rapidly.

South's four spade contract looks like a cinch. True, the trumps are all in one hand but South can lose only two diamonds and the ace of clubs. Now let's see how East and West operated the old shell game against South. For the sake of the record, South was a good player but he fell for a swindle.

East looked over dummy and saw quickly that a trump honor in his partner's hand was too much to hope for. Then East overtook his partner's king of diamonds with the ace and returned the nine spot.

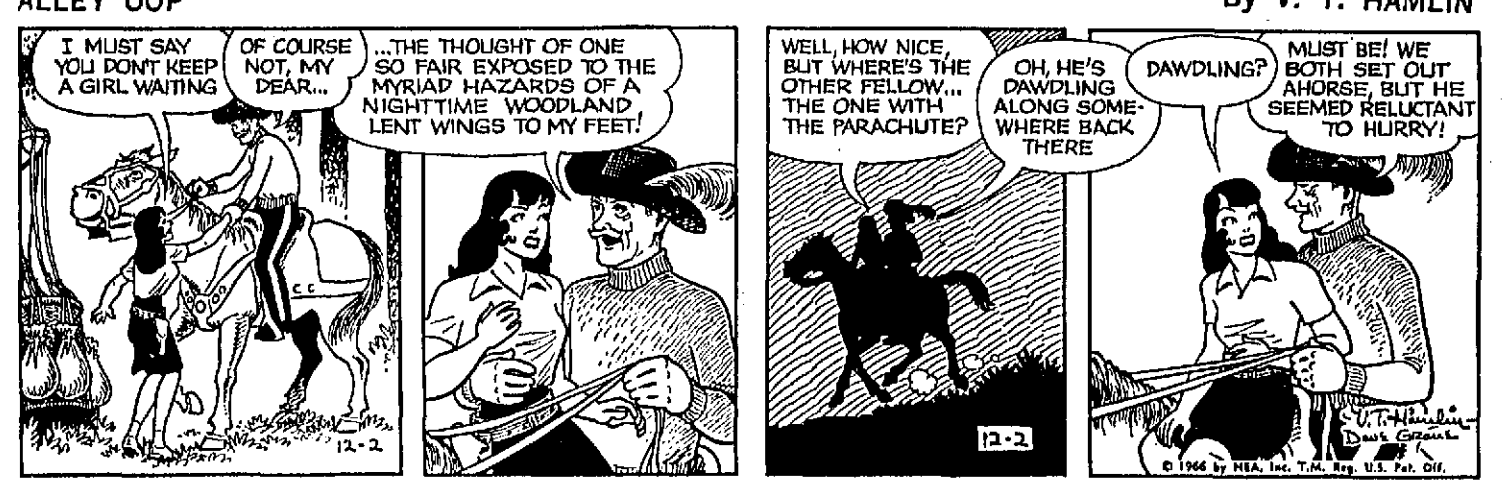

South played low. West puts the ten on his partner's nine and played the queen.

South thought for awhile. It looked as if West had started with six diamonds and that East would be able to ruff. South decided to make sure of the trick by ruffing with dummy's jack of trumps. He did and when all four trumps showed up in the East hand South was down one.

We can't criticize South's play at all. He knew that East might have been fooling in the diamond suit but the chance of a 6-2 diamond break was 17 per cent and the chance of a 4-0 spade break only 10 per cent.

In other words, South's play of the jack of trumps gave him a 90 per cent chance to make his contract. A ruff with a low trump would only have given him an 83 per cent chance.

Pearl Harbor:

On Dec. 6, 1941, few had heard of this naval base in Hawaii; a day later, Japan made it famous...

By HOYT McAFEE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In the early moments of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor one scene magnetized my attention to the exclusion of all others. A small group of men on the battleship Nevada ignored smoke fumes, rapidly spreading fires and bomb explosions to go through a time-honored ceremony—the hoisting of the colors.

Minutes ticked by. It was 30 seconds to 8 o'clock. Yet bandleader Oden McMillan and his 23 musicians remained in formation, seemingly oblivious of the danger to their lives. At 8 a.m., the raising of the flag began.

Just then an enemy plane made a swooping plunge toward the Arizona and sent a torpedo into its midsection. On across the Nevada's fantail it hurtled at blazing speed. Suddenly the plane's rear gunner spied the assembled musicians near the flagpole.

He triggered his machine gun—and the burst from it came close to hitting McMillan and the Marine guard. But no damage was inflicted. Despite that hairbreadth escape McMillan and his band resumed playing the Star-Spangled Banner.

It was a true moment of inspiration. Yet there was more of the same defiance to come. From my hilltop vantage point overlooking Pearl Harbor, I kept my binoculars focused on the Nevada.

As Old Glory fluttered upward to the half-way point on the mast, a strafing plane swerved in low over the ship. Its machine gun chattered. A blast tore the flag almost to tatters.

This had a nerve-jolting effect on bandleader McMillan, and he forgot to wave his baton for a moment. But in a swift reflex action his arm flashed out and up again in the accustomed pattern. His musicians, galvanized by this example of courage, resumed playing the anthem.

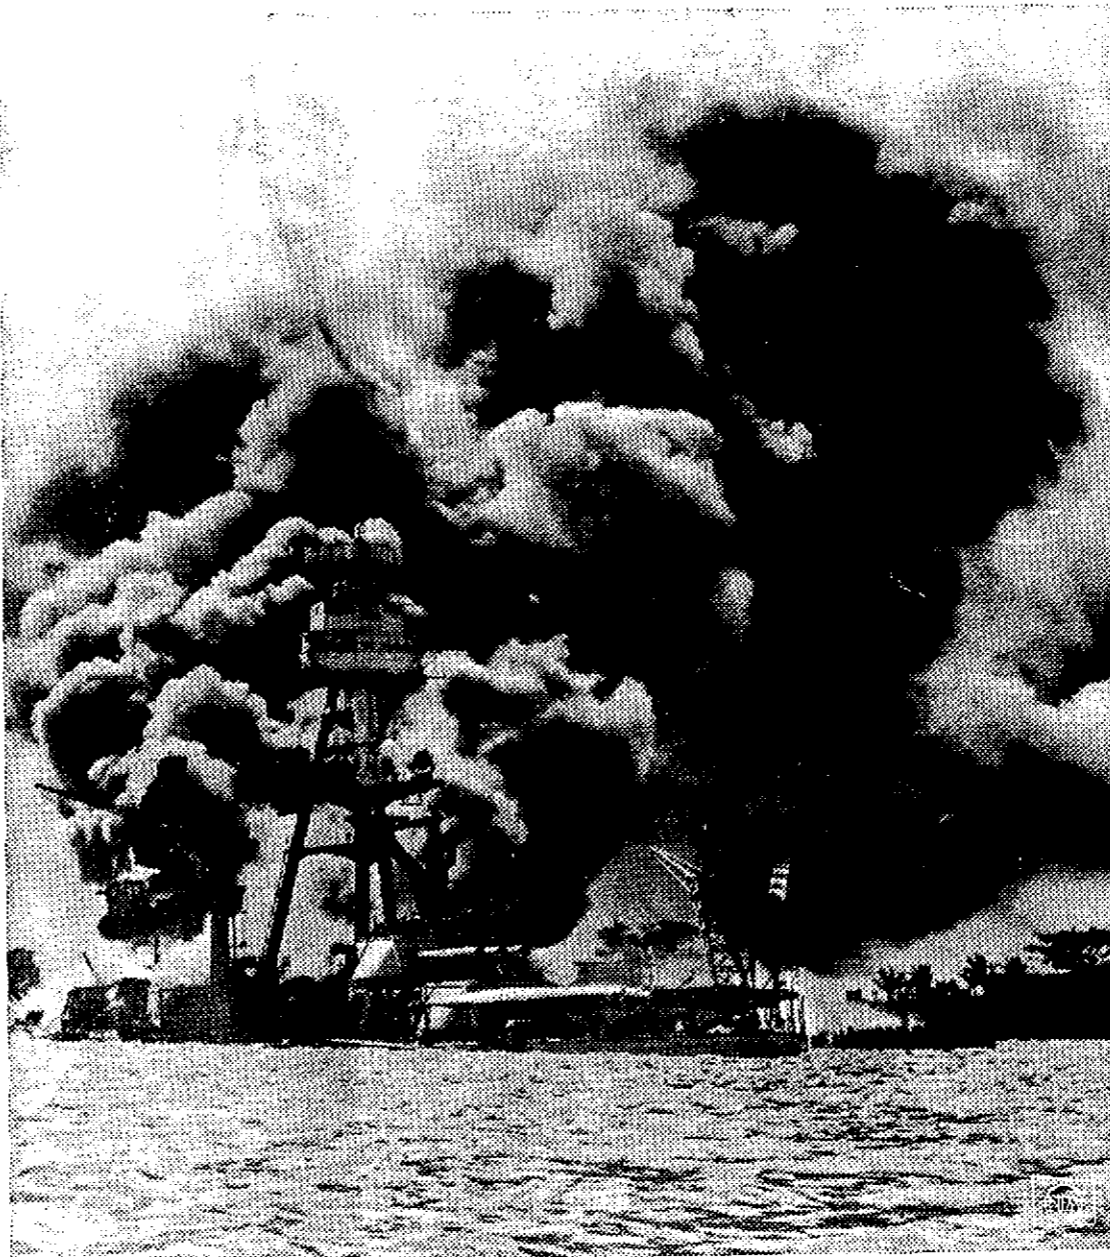

As they hit the final note, another plane came screaming so low that it almost crashed into the Nevada. Its fusillade ripped up huge splinters on the battleship's starboard side.

Having performed their duty under withering fire, Oden McMillan and his crew broke ranks. Across the Nevada's deck they sprinted like fleet halfbacks racing for their opponents' goal line. Some scampered to gun positions and others to first-aid stations, eager now to join their shipmates in fighting roles.

There can be no doubt about it: That dramatic flag-raising ceremony infused the entire personnel of the Nevada with a strike-back-at-the-enemy spirit. The commanding officer was ashore at the time the Japanese unleashed their devastating assault. Lt. Cmdr. Francis Thomas, the ranking officer aboard, realized that his ship was in terrible danger.

He resolved to save it from destruction. His first confidence-inspiring order was to "get up the steam—we're going to make a run for the open sea!" Skilled and resourceful preparations went forward at full speed to accomplish this, even as the Nevada's gun crews tried to drive off swooping, swerving, and unnerving torpedo and strafing planes.

It was a sight which electrified hard-

men all over Pearl Harbor—how the Nevada finally went swinging out with the tide, and strictly on its own steam, at 8:45 that ill-fated morning. Commander Thomas directed every agonizing moment of its run from his conning-tower perch.

Chief Quartermaster Robert Sedberry—inspired as never before in his Navy career—steered the Nevada past the battered and burning hulk of the Arizona, past floating chunks of broken steel, past a huge pipeline almost directly in its path. Then came the swarm of enemy aircraft like vultures hungry for a feast. They all converged on the Nevada, bent on delivering a knockout blow.

Down, down, they swerved and roared—one after the other. Two more direct bomb hits shook the Nevada violently. New fires flared. Near misses sent the battlewagon pitching and swaying among giant columns of water. Smoke billowed around it in geyserlike torrents.

Almost miraculously, the Nevada shook itself free from this shower of intended destruction. Like hundreds of other men on the flaming docks and aboard the badly damaged ships in Pearl Harbor, I watched—now tensely, then with my heart leaping—as the Nevada swept on. Some of the onlookers sent up rebel yells and vociferous cheers.

It was at that moment that Adm. Husband Kimmel and his staff at CINCPAC headquarters made a difficult decision, yet one designed to protect all the ships in Pearl Harbor. Via signals hoisted atop the Naval District Tower they ordered the Nevada to head for the shallow beach at Hospital Point and drop anchor there.

Their fear was this: That if the Nevada continued on to the open channel, every available enemy plane would bomb and pound it until it sank—thus bottling up all the burning battleships, cruisers, destroyers and supply ships inside Pearl. A "bit regretfully" Lt. Cmdr. Thomas complied with the order. As soon as Japanese pilots saw where he was taking the Nevada, they broke away and once again trained their fire on more vulnerable targets around Pearl Harbor.

As one who watched the treacherous raid from beginning to end, I can testify—as can many survivors of the Pearl Harbor disaster—that the Nevada's dramatic example of defiance served to embolden and rally American fighting men at a low moment. It was the second emotion-stirring episode aboard the Nevada during the 1½-hour attack which shook the world and changed the course of history.

"Rich," the boy told her with a confident smile.

Kenny Little, a Paragould native who's teaching school in New South Wales, Australia, had cause recently to wonder if he's a member of the English-speaking club.

Seems he pulled his car to a curb on which there was a "No Standing" sign. He parked the car and stepped smartly away, not wanting to break the law. When he returned, there was a parking ticket on his car.

"Well, why don't they say so," was Little's comment after he discovered that "no standing" means "no parking" in Australia.

Britain and Rhodesia to Talk Again

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson and rebel Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith agreed to meet today in a showdown attempt to end Rhodesia's rebellion.

The confrontation will take place in conditions reminiscent of the secret meetings of statesmen during World War II — probably aboard the British cruiser Tiger off the Mediterranean island of Malta.

The British government has been preparing to ask the U.N. Security Council to vote mandatory sanctions against Rhodesia if Smith did not give way by this weekend. British officials attributed the retreat they said the Rhodesians had made to the influence of South African Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster's government, whose support has enabled the Rhodesians to circumvent partial sanctions already in force.

Smith left Salisbury before dawn in a Royal Air Force Comet which had taken Sir Morrice James, a special British envoy, to the Rhodesian capital Tuesday night. With Smith and James were Britain's governor in the colony, Sir Humphrey Gibbs. It was Smith's first meeting with the governor since he declared Rhodesia's independence in November 1965 and refused to recognize Gibbs as the representative of the crown.

Smith's government, representing Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers, proclaimed independence from Britain nearly 13 months ago in defiance of persistent British demands for guarantees of eventual transfer of power to the colony's 4 million Africans.

Wilson now is seeking a new Rhodesian constitution which will simultaneously restore legal rule to the country and provide the basis for an eventual African takeover.

During September Wilson headed off the demands of African and Asian members of the commonwealth for a British military expedition to crush the rebellion. He pledged that if one last attempt at a settlement failed, Britain would ask the U.N. Security Council to impose certain mandatory sanctions on the Rhodesians by Christmas.

Birthday for Rex Stout, He is 80

By MARION E. PRILOOK

Danbury News-Times
DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — It would take a considerable metamorphosis for spare, gray-haired, white-bearded author Rex Stout to become the overweight, dark-haired, clean-shaven Nero Wolfe whose adventures in criminology have been the subject of 40 of Stout's published works.

In the first place, Nero Wolfe, despite 32 years of literary detecting, is ageless.

Rex Stout celebrates his 80th birthday today, and is marking the occasion by beginning a new Nero Wolfe story.

Writing the book will take the usual 39 days. Stout neither rereads nor rewrites. Allowing for time out for the holidays, the book will be published, according to Stout, on May 9 or 10.

Both Stout and Nero Wolfe credit a good part of their success to logical thinking. Stout describes logical thinking as the ability to consider a problem without introducing the extraneous.

He ascribes this ability — ergo, Wolfe's — to an arrangement "somewhere in my head."

He holds this same arrangement responsible for the fact that by the time he was 10, he had read the 1,200 books in his parents' library.

His sister, author and gardening expert Ruth Stout, says Rex began to read when he was 18 months old.

"I rather doubt that," says Stout, "but I do remember that after I was 2, I started saving my money to buy my mother a gift. On my third birthday, I gave her a book."

Born in Noblesville, Ind., Dec. 1, 1886, Stout states unequivocally that he left Indiana at the age of 1, "because I was fed up with Indiana politics." He grew up near Topeka, Kan.

His appearance belies statistics. He neither looks nor acts his 80 years.

He is keen and vital, and exudes a lusty masculinity.

Stout's biographical data says he has been, successively, an office boy, store clerk, bookkeeper, sailor, hotel manager, inventor of the school thrift system — adopted by schools in 432 cities in the United States — and author.

In addition to writing 54 books in the past 36 years, Stout was master of ceremonies for the "Speaking of Liberty" radio programs in 1941 and the "Voice of Freedom" programs in 1942. Devotees of Nero Wolfe will find contradictions and similarities between the fictional Wolfe and the factual Stout.

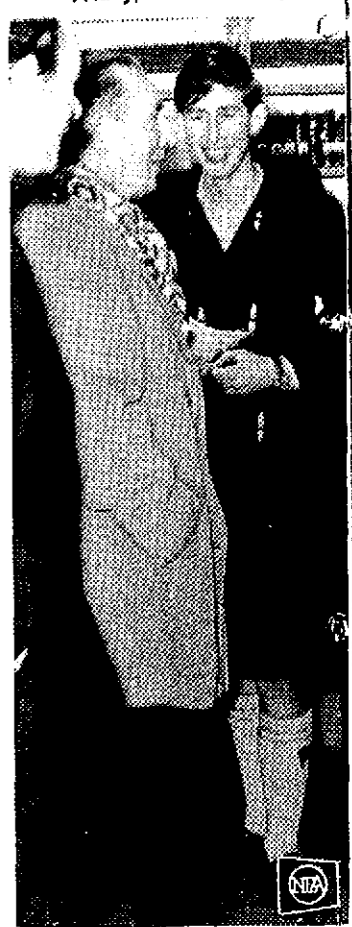

Does Stout, like Wolfe, admire orchids? "No. They are not my favorite flower," Stout grows 192 varieties of tall, bearded iris. He also grows numerous varieties of day lilies, vegetables and fruits.

Unlike Wolfe, Stout spends a great deal of time outdoors. In winter, he enjoys playing chess and tending his plants.

Like Wolfe, Stout enjoys good food and its preparation. He cooks dinner about three times a month at Highmeadow, the estate straddling Danbury and Brewster, N.Y., where he has lived for the past 36 years.

Stout's wife, Pola, is a textile designer. He has two married daughters.

U.S. Guns in Viet Nam's Neutral Zone

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

DONG HA, South Viet N. (AP) — The United States set up antiaircraft guns just miles south of the demilitarized zone today, and top officers said they were put there because concern over possible Communist attacks.

The guns were placed on a hill near Dong Ha, the command headquarters for a combined U.S. Marine and South Vietnamese army force larger than any American division.

For several months, American commanders have been talking about the possibility of Communist air attack on the huge Dong Ha military concentration that has sprung up since July, although the North Vietnamese are not known to have sent their MIG jets into South Viet Nam since the war began.

Radar-guided missiles have been set up around Da Nang, 9 miles south of here, to protect that important port and airfield from Communist attack. But the mushrooming Dong Ha complex depended only on jet fighters stationed at Da Nang for protection.

The new unit which set up guns here is the Army's 1st Battalion of the 44th Artillery. It uses machine guns mounted on the back of trucks, and tracked vehicles carrying cannon and machine guns.

Lt. Col. Charles L. Leroy, 40, of Memphis, Tenn., said his unit arrived Nov. 6, and was assigned briefly to the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division before being sent north.

Leroy said the guns under his command can be used against ground troops as well as aerial targets.

World's longest span of undersea cable, stretching 3,600 miles from Tuckerton, N.J., to St. Hilaire-de-Riez, France, was placed in service in 1965. It can handle 12 simultaneous conversations.

Perfect City Still Far in Future

By HOWARD BENEDICT

A.P. Aerospace Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Two space scientists said today that the aerospace industry should be enlisted to solve "the burgeoning problems of our sickening cities" and presented their own idea of the "super city" of the future.

In their ideal city, all residents would live in 100-story apartment buildings built in a circle around a vast recreational complex. There would be no automobile travel except for leaving the city, and each building would be filled with luxuries such as health and beauty resorts.

The concept was outlined in a paper presented today at the annual conference of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

The authors, Vernal M. Tyler and Carl F. Asiala Jr., of the McDonnell Aircraft Corp., St. Louis, Mo., reported their future city idea "has met with a most gratifying acceptance. And, of course, there have been detractors. All are unanimous in the feeling that something will have to be done."

They said studies show the U.S. population will increase by 30 million persons in 10 years and that 320 million will be living in urban areas 50 years from now. Traffic, they said, will be unbearable.

Why should the aerospace industry be called upon to solve the problems?

"Aerospace," their paper said, "has the largest private reservoir of scientific talent in the world. Its engineers have come up with workable solutions for almost every problem presented — no matter how difficult it might have been."

Instead of further crowding existing cities, Tyler and Asiala suggested that new ones be built from scratch. Their ideal city, called a "modular, circumferential city," might not be the perfect solution but could be a base from which to work, they said. It would consist of 24 high-rise apartments in a double circle around the rim of the wheel-shaped city. It would house 250,000 persons, with parking on the lower floors, low-cost housing just above and the most expensive housing at the top of the 100-story structures.

Commercial areas, schools, theaters and government offices would be located throughout the complex. Transportation in the city would be by automated monorail, subway and moving sidewalk.

The one-mile diameter center of the city would have bicycle paths, golf courses, parks, streams and lakes — and no automobiles.

Continuous balconies would be on each floor, "analogous to a city's sidewalks, where people can intermingle and learn each other's names." Whole floors would be devoted to recreation and other facilities like sauna baths.

Venue Change Is Asked in Murder Case

MARION, Ind. (AP) — The court-appointed attorney for Mrs. Edith Louise Schmidt, 25, of Marion, filed a request for a change of venue Monday, saying that excitement and prejudice against her pervades an area within 50 miles of Grant County.

Mrs. Schmidt and Glenn Everett Stewart, 30, also of Marion, are charged with first-degree murder in the Mothers Day dismemberment slaying of Mrs. Schmidt's husband, Larry Lee Schmidt, 30.

Stewart, who was arrested in a wooded area near Arkadelphia, Ark., following an intensive manhunt, is scheduled for trial Dec. 12.

Prosecutor Robert Foust said the court would have to grant a change of venue for Mrs. Schmidt because the charge involves a possible death penalty. Mrs. Schmidt was scheduled to stand trial here beginning Feb. 13.

GIANT CARGO JET that would carry as much as 330,000 pounds of cargo was revealed by Lockheed at their third annual meeting and technical display recently. Aimed at more economical air transport service sometime in the 1970s, the big plane's major features will include a more advanced engine developing about 50,000 pounds takeoff thrust, beefed-up structure and new landing gear that will impose less stress on airport runways than current large jets.

We Understood Interstate System Self-Financing

Today I asked the Little Rock Bureau of The Associated Press to message Washington for a story analyzing the financing of the federal Interstate Highway System — which bears all the earmarks of a political scandal.

President Johnson is threatening to curtail funds for Interstate construction in order to reduce the deficit-ridden budget. But as one who remembers clearly that the Interstate system was "sold" to us as a self-financing project it now seems to me that the President's words are merely those of a self-serving politician caught short on public funds.

When inaugurated, the Interstate system was pictured as a project entirely separate from other federal expenditures, depending upon a new one-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax as its exclusive revenue.

That one-cent tax has since grown to four cents. The Arkansas motorist, for instance, pays four cents a gallon federal tax and seven and a half cents state tax — a total of 11½ cents per gallon.

Four cents tax on every gallon of highway fuel sold throughout the United States adds up to an astronomical figure — and an equally large responsibility for President Johnson and his associates. The $64 questions are these:

Is the 4-cent tax fully supporting the Interstate? If it is, then President Johnson can't reduce Interstate construction without diverting its escrowed funds to meet the extravagancies of general government — a flagrant and impudent breach of faith with the motoring public.

Or, is the 4-cent tax failing to cover Interstate construction? In which case the federal politicians stand guilty of borrowing from general taxes to help a project which they guaranteed from the beginning would be self-sustaining — an equally flagrant breach of faith with the nation's general taxpayers.

Either way President Johnson and his associates have something to answer for at the bar of Justice.

I have messaged the Little Rock AP Bureau, am forwarding them today's editorial — and am sending copies also to Arkansas Senators McClellan and Fulbright with personal letters.

Many citizens like your editor resent a presidential threat that infers the common citizen is forgetful and stupid — and I strongly suspect that a thorough investigation of Interstate will produce a major scandal.

Negotiations Could Avert Air Strike

By JOHN VINOCUR
NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations for Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union resumed negotiations today in an attempt to head off a strike at noon that would halt the line's operation.

The bargainers had talked for 19 hours, far into the morning hours, without any word of progress, then resumed the meeting after a four-hour sleep break.

"The outlook is dim," was the comment from a federal mediator during the recess.

Freight Rates Are Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Interstate railroad freight rates in Arkansas that have been in effect for almost a year were approved Thursday by a three-judge federal court.

Mountain Home Man Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP)—Jewell Studdard, 55, of Mountain Home was killed Thursday night when his car rounded a curve and struck the rear of a trailer truck that was making a left turn on Arkansas 5 about four miles north of here. The truck driver was John Bradley, 27, of Winfield, Ala.

This Girl Swinger Visiting U.S., French National Resource

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — She looks like a gazelle in miniskirts. She doesn't wear rouge or lipstick. She doesn't smoke. "And I don't dance at all — except in my mind always," she said.

But at 22, Francoise Hardy, the symbol of swinging youth in France, is reported to get more fan mail than Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The young singer composed her first hit song, "All the Boys and Girls," at 17. Since then she has met with an international acclaim as a recording star reminiscent of the quick rise of the Beatles, Elvis Presley, and Barbra Streisand.

The French government, which she says now takes 65 per cent of her earnings, considers her a national resource.

"Everything happened to me so easily," she said. "But success forces you to be too concentrated in yourself, it makes you egocentric, and I am afraid that is now my biggest fault."

Francoise is pale and tall and lovely and has green eyes, a quick wit, and long hair that falls around her shoulders in an auburn mist.

She came here for a visit after making her English-speaking debut as a star in the MGM-Cinema film, "Grand Prix."

Miss Hardy is a style setter in dress as well as in song in Europe. She once created a sensation by strolling into the staid Savoy Hotel in London in orange trousers.

$100,000 Gift to Hendrix

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Hendrix College announced Thursday it had received a $100,000 gift from the Murphy Foundation of El Dorado.

The college is engaged in campaigning to raise $5,250,000 to match a Ford Foundation grant.

Heads craned, too, the other day when she entered the fashionable 21 Club restaurant here clad in a beige sweater, dark Italian moccasins, heavily textured white stockings, and a very abbreviated plaid skirt.

"The American people treat you more as an object than as a person," she remarked with quiet composure. "This is not true in Paris."

Over a vegetarian plate — Francoise eats sparingly only twice a day — she told about her life.

"I want to know a lot of things — everything about everything, but I know that is impossible," she said.

"I hope that in the future I'll find something else to do, but I don't know yet what. I don't feel clever enough to be a writer, and I never wanted to be an actress."

Francoise, who accompanies herself on the guitar, also keeps a staff of five musicians on her payroll. She herself composes about half of the songs she records or sings on television.

This is her philosophy: "I am too young yet to know if life has a meaning. But I believe it is better to regret what you have done than what you haven't done. Who doesn't risk anything, has nothing."

To her, motherhood is the finest expression of creativity. But she says that at present she has no marriage plans.

"In France, we do not marry as readily as you do here," she said.

Dr. Lester Sitzes was elected president of the Hope Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors on Thursday evening at the Chamber office. Member of the Board for the past two years, Dr. Sitzes had served as first vice-president during the current year. The Board voted to change the committee arrangement and set up the organization into 4 divisions for the coming year with a vice-president heading each division. Guy Grigg was elected to head the Business Development Division; George Frazier will head the Community Division; Harold Hendrix will head the Public Affairs and Legislative Division and James Morrow will head the Organization Division. Each will serve as a vice president.

Ray Lawrence was elected treasurer for the coming year. In other action the Board voted to support the Missouri Pacific and Kansas City Southern Railroads in their opposition to some proposed Railroad mergers that will soon come before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Some addition plans were made and a committee of George Frazier, Ray Lawrence and Hubert Thrash was appointed to assist in the Red River Vocational-Technical School Dedication and Open House scheduled for Tuesday afternoon December 13, 1966 at 2 o'clock. Retiring President W. L. Tate urged all Board members to attend the Millwood Dam Dedication ceremonies set for Thursday afternoon December 8, 1966 on the Hempstead County side of the Dam, near Saratoga.

The officials, who could not be quoted by name, also reported the power struggle in Communist China still is under way.

Last October, many here believed the struggle would be won by party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Defense Minister Lin Biao. But the U.S. officials said Thursday no clear victory now is in sight.

These officials said the struggle-produced tension had much to do with the decision of the U.N. General Assembly this week to reject Red China's admission to the United Nations by a larger vote than last year. Officials expressed belief that the outlook for victory in Viet Nam through military action must now look exceedingly dim to the Communist leaders.

These leaders also must realize now that their hopes for a political breakdown in South Viet Nam have little basis, it was said.

Officials pointed to reports of 5,700 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed during October, compared with 900 South Vietnamese and 340 Americans. They also pointed to the increasing number of Communist fighters captured — 2,418 during October compared with 2,200 in the July-September period.

Bitter Cold, Snow Across the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New bitter cold and snow pressed eastward into the northern Appalachians today, spreading frigid conditions across most of the northern states.

Heavy snow fell across Ohio, and snow squalls hit the southern shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario, causing hazardous driving conditions.

Three inches of snow fell at Columbus, Dayton and Akron in Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa., in a six-hour period.

Sub-zero temperatures again embraced the Northern Plains. International Falls, Minn., had 11 below zero. In contrast, it was 65 in the early morning at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, Tex.

Robbed 2nd Time and He Is Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Hyman Gittnick, 78, was badly beaten a year ago during a robbery of his small tailor shop in the East Flatbush section of Brooklyn.

His lawyer son pleaded with him to retire. Gittnick refused. "What would I do?" he asked them. "I'd have no one to talk to."

Gittnick's shop was robbed again Thursday. This time two young thugs stabbed him to death and fled with $4 and change from his pockets and another $6 from a neighbor with whom he had been chatting.

Black Market Stirs Up Trouble Between Allied Service Men

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Viet Nam (AP) — Resentment is growing between U.S. and South Korean servicemen in South Viet Nam as a result of rivalry for such highly valued post exchange items as TV sets.

The Americans complain that Koreans are organized systematically to snatch up such items soon after they appear in the PXs. Some Americans said they suspect the Koreans are selling the goods on the black market.

A South Korean spokesman replied that some of his country's servicemen have complained that certain American PX managers keep desirable merchandise out of sight until U.S. servicemen have had a crack at it.

He told a reporter the South Korean command is bearing down hard to prevent black market dealings by Korean troops. Korean Criminal Investigation agents have received no reports of any improper resale of TV sets by Korean servicemen, the spokesman added.

One day last week, an observer standing outside the downtown PX counted 18 Koreans emerging with cartons containing TV sets. In the same period only three Americans were seen to come out bearing TV cartons.

The TV sets sold for $98.75 each — more than three months' pay for a South Korean private first class, who makes $1 a day. The pay rises 50 cents a day for each higher step in enlisted rank. Korean Lieutenants, at the bottom of the officer pay scale, get $4 a day.

A spokesman for the U.S. Military Command said the 45,000 South Korean troops in Viet Nam have exactly the same PX privileges as the 361,000 Americans.

The U.S. Command issues PX cards to Korean Headquarters in numbered lots. Korean control officers then distribute them individually to their troops. Each card is accounted for by number.

In purchasing such rationed items as TV sets, the buyer must sign the sales slip and enter his card number. This is used in tracing goods recovered from the black market.

Planes Hit Targets Near Hanoi

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of U.S. bombers pounded an oil depot and truck park near Hanoi today in the closest raids to the North Vietnamese capital in five months.

Taking advantage of clearing weather, about 20 carrier-based Navy planes attacked the Van Dien vehicle depot five miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman announced.

Simultaneously, 50 to 70 Air Force Phantom jets and Thunderbolts raided the Ha Gia oil depot 14½ miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

U.S. headquarters said a damage assessment of the raids had not been compiled from the pilots' reports.

The raids were the closest to Hanoi since June 29, when American planes struck an oil depot three miles from the center of the city as well as an oil depot on the outskirts of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's chief port. They were the first American attacks in the immediate vicinity of North Viet Nam's two most important cities.

An earlier report from a U.S. spokesman placed the raids today at four miles from Hanoi but a later announcement corrected this.

Annual Lions Auction Set Dec. 5-6

Lions Eugene White and Bobby Joe Lee, co-chairman, announce that the 18th annual Lions Club Auction will be held Dec. 5th, 6th, and 7th this year. Beginning Monday at 6:00 P.M. and continuing each night till 10:00 P.M. Lions will again use the facilities of KXAR to raise funds for baskets for Christmas. The auction passed the $2,500.00 mark for the first time in 1965 and they are working to maintain that level in 1966.

Lions are now contacting merchants for contributions of merchandise to be auctioned off to the highest bidder. The headquarters this year will be the former West Department Store located at 2nd and Main and visitors will be welcome to come look at the merchandise during the day of to bid in person during the auction hours.

A special feature this year will be "Are You Listening?" followed by a local name. The value goes up $2.50 with every name and the total offered will be $75.00 or $25.00 per night. If there is no winner the first night the jackpot starts at $25.00 the second night. It will pay you to listen more ways than one.

In addition to providing baskets for about 125 families each Christmas the Hope Lions pay $500.00 to the Blind Center in Little Rock and spend about the same amount on Local Sight Conservation work.

The Hope Lions have built a Scout Building in Fair Park that is being used by Troop 91, Cub Scouts and at times by local Girl Scouts. They are now paying on the $6,500.00 building fund. All the Club's 65 members expect to be busy selling and delivering merchandise as they work to top the $2,500.00 of last year. Remember the dates, Dec 5th, 6th, and 7th from 6 to 10 P. M. each night on KXAR.

Brainpower Best Resource

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The president of the University of Arkansas said Thursday that "brainpower" was being recognized as the nation's most precious natural resource.

Dr. David W. Mullins told the District 4 conference of the American Alumni Council, however, that it was unlikely that resources available for higher education will be sufficient in the foreseeable future to meet mushrooming demands.
